Australian Rural Road Group and the National Infrastructure Coordinator

The Bingara Accord

The parties wish to pursue national prosperity through real economic improvements to important regional roads.

The parties agree:

1. to seek to bring roads into line with the mainstream practices of Australia's infrastructure sectors;
2. to employ user pays-user pays trials for road improvements to test this approach;
3. that the Australian Rural Roads Group asset and investment template is appropriate for local roads throughout regional Australia;
4. that submissions should be made to include suitably aggregated proposals in Infrastructure Australia's national infrastructure audit and infrastructure priorities list.
